

Buy Locally First.

What's in it for you?

A Better Economy.

The guy who owns the fishing store and the woman who owns the book store are our neighbors. They purchase local financial and accounting services. They use locally owned transportation and warehouse facilities. They shop at the local grocery store.

Bottom line: shopping locally keeps our dollars moving from pocket to pocket right here in our community. The money we spend with locally owned businesses helps strengthen our own local economy.
