

Buy Locally First.

What's in it for you?

You Save Money.

How often do we drive miles and miles to “save money” at a mega warehouse – only to spend way more by purchasing items we didn't need?

We'd save much more by instead paying the extra 50¢ for locally-grown lettuce at the local grocer, who stores his surplus at the local warehouse, rents from the local landlord, has his taxes done by the local accountant, and deposits his return at the local bank.

... And who donates the shirts for your son's soccer team every year.
